She was surprised at our enormous stock of splendid rug values—lowest prices, biggest stock in the State.

You also will be surprised—and delighted too. Better look now.

Mr. DeBoer is in.

Hon. J. A. DeBoer's communication to the next governorship literature is interesting and readable as is anything from the trained pen of that gentleman. He is willing to be governor but he hasn't time to fight for it. He would listen if the people called upon him to serve them and his ear would be so well trained that he would not miss the call if it were very loud.

It looks very much to us as if Mr. DeBoer, by his carefully prepared letter, which was written to the owner of the Barre Times, by the way, in answer to a direct question as to whether he were a candidate or not, had put himself in the hands of his friends and that if things look promising the said friends will get busy and make the fight which their distinguished candidate cannot make for himself, owing to his business connections.

Our friend, the esteemed St. Albans Messenger, thinks that some readers may regard Mr. DeBoer's action as idealism but it may turn out to be pretty good practical politics—Burlington Clipper.

It's an all new program of vaudeville at the Pavilion to-day, one act being a sensational novelty act, introducing comedy; the other a refined singing and dancing act. Both acts on the new program depend entirely on pure skill please the audience and both come highly recommended. The pictures are all good. In one, the leading feminine part is posed by Miss Florence Lawrence, who is undoubtedly the most popular motion picture actress in the world to-day. It will no doubt interest the patrons of the Pavilion to know that the vaudeville stage is booked to appear at that theatre the first half of next week, namely, H. S. Whitney's operatic dolls, an act composed of five people, who present a very operatic act, using their own special scenery.
